Pet Network Humane Society

Letter from the Executive Director

Dear Friends of Pet Network Humane Society,

It has been 4 months since I became Executive Director of Pet Network. I feel like I have the dream job. It isn't easy, and what we see sometimes can be sad or cruel, but the rewards of our life-saving work are immeasurable.

Pet Network offers so many wonderful programs and services for our community. Our overnight boarding and day care services offer a safe and playful environment for your best friend to stay while you travel or handle other responsibilities. Our repeat canine clients look forward to their visits and the group play time. We also offer in-home care for those pets that feel more comfortable staying alone in their familiar surroundings. Our retail Pet Store offers leashes, collars, toys and other necessities.

To help fund our rescue efforts, we opened the Second Chance Thrift Store at Pet Network. This highly rated shop offers quality clothing, jewelry and slightly used purses and home items, thanks to generous donations from our supporters. Visit us daily from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Of course, we are best known for helping thousands of abandoned dogs and cats find lasting love and a safe place to call home. We are on track to match over 500 pets with lucky new families again this year.

I'm delighted to announce that Dr. Kim Barnes is returning to Incline Village to offer veterinary care to the public. Barnes Veterinary Services at Pet Network will be opening April 1st. Many of you already know Dr. Barnes as a skilled practitioner and a compassionate animal lover.

As a former teacher, I have a great passion for education. I am committed to revitalizing Pet Network's programs. Our focus will be on understanding how animals communicate; safety issues; responsibilities of pet ownership; and the importance of sterilization to stop the overpopulation that results in the senseless killing of innocent animals every year.

I am grateful for your past and continued support. Whether you adopt a pet, use our services, refer friends, shop with us, volunteer or provide financial support, you are helping save lives. You matter to all of us, and we thank you.

Sincerely, Jason Stipp

Pet Network Brings Hope to Hundreds of Animals

It was a beautiful, sunny afternoon in late October, Pet Network staff members were preparing to walk out the door for lunch when we received the call: a litter of newborn puppies was found in a commercial dumpster in Susanville, CA and they needed help fast. Our first thought was "How could this be happening again?!" Last year our dedicated staff, Board members and volunteers stepped up to care for a litter of 10 puppies found in a dumpster in South Lake Tahoe. This time we knew what we had to do. Staff members immediately sprang into action: calling volunteers to secure foster homes for the newborns in need of constant care and bottle feeding, assembling a lengthy list of supplies and finally, making the 3 hour drive to Susanville to pick up the puppies. The long process of raising 7 newborn puppies without a mom had begun (yet again).

Through 6 long weeks the puppies grew healthier and more robust each day. Along the way they garnished a lot of media attention. Seven endearing little puppies, whose life started in the most dismal of circumstances, had survived and captured the hearts of animal lovers across America. This story has made national news, but it is merely one example of the kind of work we do every day. Four tiny kittens were abandoned in a box near an office building in Reno just before Halloween. Named the Hocus Pocus litter, one of the kittens has found a wonderful home, while the last three kittens are still eagerly awaiting adoption.

We are here for animals in need every day. We strive to end the euthanasia of adoptable animals and assure that they find forever homes with loving families. Each animal is provided with medical care, vaccinations, micro-chips, food, socialization and lots of love during their stay with us. It is our hope that each animal will be given a second chance at life, love and happiness.

We certainly can't do it alone. Your support ensures that we can care for the animals that come through our doors each day and continue to do so for years to come. Every dollar helps save a life. Please consider making a donation today! Donations can also be made online by credit card at http://petnetwork.org/make-donation.

CAN'T ADOPT? If you can not fit one more animal into your home you can still save a life! Join Pet Network today and save the lives of animals in your community.

Can You Help?

We're Looking for Our Forever Homes!

Dolly is a young and playful dog who doesn't always make a good first impression but if you give her a chance to warm up, you will quickly find out that she is a lovable 45 pound lap dog. She knows many commands and loves to play fetch. She originally came to Pet Network pregnant. Here she gave birth to 8 beautiful puppies and is now available for adoption. If you are looking for an active medium-size dog please come by and visit her.

Meet Blossom, one of the most affectionate kitties you will ever have the chance to encounter at Pet Network. She is a true indoor lap cat, but enjoys to bird watch out the window and play with toy mice. Whether she is lavishing you with attention or being a couch potato and lounging around on her cat tower, she will always be there to welcome you home with an excited meow and a purr.

Call today to adopt one of these adorable animals! (775) 832-4404

We are the Hocus Pocus litter – Max, Sarah and Winifred! We arrived at Pet Network just before Halloween after being abandoned in a cardboard box outside of a business in Reno. We were fortunate enough that Pet Network was able to take us in and start loving us, helping us to come out of our shells. While at Pet Network we were diagnosed with the calicivirus, which is incurable but very manageable by simply taking Lysine on a daily basis. We are now 4 months old and have grown into absolutely wonderful, loveable, affectionate, sweet and talkative kitties. We absolutely love when people come to play and love us, especially children. We enjoy playing with other people and are having a blast playing around with each other. It would be great if we could be adopted together, but each of us would also do well living in a single cat household. We would love to meet you and see if we are the right addition to your family.

This is Kilo, a lovable pit-bull mix. He came to us a few months ago from Lassen County. He loves to hike, play with other dogs, and cuddle. Kilo is extremely loyal and friendly. Stop by and take Kilo for a walk, and you'll fall in love with his exuberant energy and lovable personality.

Chloe is an intelligent and attentive pointer mix who has, unfortunately called Pet Network home twice now. She has been surrendered due to owner circumstances, but this did not dampen her lively spirit. Her tail rarely stops wagging and she enjoys exploring the outdoors while being loyal to her active companion. If you are looking for a hiking buddy then stop by and meet this sweet girl.

Volunteers of the Quarter

Rocky & Kim Woods

Rocky and Kim Woods are two amazing volunteers who have really made a difference in the lives of the animals at Pet Network. Either together, or individually, they are here almost every day to take one of our shelter dogs for a walk. When asked what makes his experience here as a volunteer so memorable, Rocky said, "Well, it's the highlight of my day...I walk in and I'm happy right away being around all the great Pet Net folks...and all the crazy DOGS! What's not to enjoy? You go into a kennel to take your pal out for a walk, and he or she goes absolutely nuts from being so excited you are there! Now that's hard to beat!" We are so thankful to Kim and Rocky for their dedication. Kim recently expressed her love for the dogs at Pet Network, "Every single time my husband and/or I walk a dog from the Pet Network, we get to smile and laugh out loud. We get to meet people on the trail. We get to feel completely appreciated (by the dog and the Pet Network crew)."

Steve Kroll

Steve Kroll has been a friend to Pet Network for many years. When Pet Network was in need of a foster home for the first round of newborn dumpster puppies, Steve stepped right up. Then, nearly a year later, he stepped up again for the arduous, yet deeply rewarding task of being a puppy foster for the second time. Steve reflected about his experience...

To learn more about how you can get involved, please visit http://petnetwork.org/volunteer

"The Pet Network and its network of volunteers and donors, who so generously support it with their time, money and goods, are dedicated to doing what they can to rescue animals brutally cast into a trash can and especially those who lost their owners and their sense of home and place. When I got their email entitled 'Newborn puppies in need of foster care', I felt privileged to be able to help out a second time. There is an unduplicatable joy associated with watching these blind and helpless little creatures enter a world where similarly loving humans adopt them. I hope readers will contribute to the Pet Network by giving one of its many animals the love of a new home they so desperately yearn for."

Thank you Steve, Rocky and Kim for the difference you've make to the many animals that come through the doors of Pet Network. We can't thank you enough for your selfless dedication!

Did You Know?

According to Nevada state law NRS 574.195, it is unlawful to leave any animal inside of a vehicle under extreme heat or cold. According to the Washoe County Sherriff's Office, "temperatures inside a closed automobile can easily rise to 20 degrees or warmer than outside temperatures which could prove deadly to a pet." Officers have the right to remove and confiscate any animal left inside of a vehicle under unsafe conditions. Please be safe and leave your pet at home, or at a boarding facility.

Boarding News

Pet Network Boarding is excited to introduce Playtime Punch Cards for our regular daycare clients! We have 10 and 20-day punch cards available. You'll receive a 15% savings with the 10-day card and a 20% savings with the 20-day card! It's now more affordable than ever to let Fido run with the pack while you're at work.

Can't transport your dog or cat to our boarding facility? No problem! Pet Network Boarding offers In-Home Care services for even the busiest folks. Schedule a walk for your dog while you're at work or an in-home cat feeding while you're out of town. Due to the overwhelming success of our in-home cat care services, we have decided to eliminate all of our on-site cat boarding. Your kitty will be much more comfortable and less stressed while our bonded professionals care for them in their own environment.

Attention SNC Students! Pet Network Boarding now offers doggy daycare for Sierra Nevada College students for only $10 on Wednesdays! No need to leave your pup home while you're at school, drop off as early as 7:30am. Students must show current student I.D. to receive the discount.

We are also very excited to be installing a beautiful new iron fence in front of our building to ensure the safe delivery of your fury friends to our large outdoor play yard. Construction will begin this spring.
